SEVENTEENTH ANNUAL MEETING

OF THE

LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.

The Seventeenth Annual Meeting of the LIBRARY ASSOCIATION OF PORTLAND was held at the Library Rooms on the evening of Saturday, February 5, 1881—the President, the Hon. Matthew P. Deady, in the chair.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and approved.

The President then read his Annual Report, as follows:

To the Members of the Library Association,

Portland, Oregon:

GENTLEMEN:-

As required by the constitution of the Association, I hereby report to you the "general doings and condition of the society" during the year 1880.

The year has been one of reasonable growth and prosperity, including all the elements which constitute our existence and enable us to accomplish the objects of our organization.

The books of the Association, the annual report of the librarian, Mr. Henry A. Oxer, of the treasurer, Mr. Philip C. Schuyler, and of the finance committee, Messrs. Henry Failing, C. H. Lewis and William M. Ladd, have been carefully examined, and the following details compiled therefrom:

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

At the close of the year 1879 there were 9,525 volumes in the library, and there were added to these during the year 1880, 363 more, 342 of which were purchased at a cost of $672.64, and 21 given by friends. These additions are classified by the librarian as follows:

Fiction	Biography 58
History 44	Poetry 21
Travels 13	Religion 7
Science 60	Bound Periodicals 4
Miscellaneous	Jurisprudence and Government 8
Total	262
rotai

The whole number of volumes in the library—9,872—18 classified as follows:

Fiction	Poetry 557
History 898	Religion 405
Travels	Miscellaneous
Biography	Jurisprudence and Government. 718
Science	Bound Periodicals 669
Total

It will be seen from this statement that the number of volumes purchased during the past year is but little more than half as many as were purchased in 1879. But in that year the outlay for that purpose—$1,195.14—was exceptionally large, and at the end of the year the income of the book fund was overdrawn $437.78. Desiring as much as possible to avoid the demoralizing habit of being in debt and consuming to-day what belongs to to-morrow, we have limited the expenditure of this fund during the past year, so that with the help of $200 surplus transferred to it from the general fund, the overdraft is reduced to the nominal sum of $47.50.

The whole number of books loaned during the year was 18,208, classified as follows:

Fiction12	1,101	Biography881
History	692	Poetry
Travels	726	Religion 85
Science	467	Bound Periodicals 34
Miscellaneous	926	Juris. and Gov't 56

This shows an increase of 1,313 volumes, or an increase of about 8 per centum on the circulation of 1879, which was 16,895.

During the year, there was received and kept on file in the library rooms, 146 periodicals, ranging in weight and time of publication from the quarterly to the daily. Of these, 116 were American, 22 English, 6 German, 1 French and 1 Colonial. Of the American publications, 66 were published in the Atlantic states, 33 in Oregon, 6 in Washington Territory, 1 in Idaho and 10 in California. The periods of their publications were as follows: Daily, 16; semi- and tri-weekly, 7; weekly, 84; monthly and bi-monthly, 34, and quarterly, 5.

Those published in Oregon, Washington and Idaho continue to be furnished by the publishers free of charge, and the remainder at a cost of $454.40, against the sum of $391.85 expended for this purpose in 1879.

In concluding what I have to say under this head I venture to repeat what was said in my report for 1876: "A large and well selected list of periodicals adds very much to the usefulness and attractiveness of a public library and reading room. The fresh and vigorous thought and speculation upon almost all topics of public interest first appears in the columns of the newspaper and magazine. Accordingly, the library committee have always endeavored to make the periodicals a prominent feature of the library. Only a want of means has prevented them from doing more than they have in this direction. In the meantime we earnestly invite all publishers, and particularly those upon this coast, to send us complimentary copies of their publications."

Lists of the publications presented to the Library Association and the periodicals received during the year, marked A and B, are hereto annexed.

MEMBERSHIP.

The membership continues to increase with the growth of the place. During the past year 628 persons were members of the Association, for some period of time, not less than a month. Of these, there were perpetual, 55; life, 1; quarterly, 187; monthly, 371; honorary, 14; while in 1879 the whole number was 585, consisting of perpetual, 52; life, 1; quarterly, 175; monthly, 344; honorary, 13. Dividing the whole amount received during the year—$2,547.25—from the quarterly and monthly memberships, for dues, by the amount of dues per year for each of such memberships—$12—gives the yearly average of the quarterly and monthly members for 1880 at 212.27. In 1879 the average was 204.9 and in 1878 it was 190.16. The increase in membership of all kinds during the year 1880 has been 43, of which 3 are perpetual, 1 honorary, and 39 subscribing members; that is, persons who subscribe and pay dues at the rate of $1.00 per month for periods not exceeding three nor less than one month.

THE GENERAL FUND.

This fund is derived from the dues received from subscribing members, fines and the sale of material once purchased with it—such as old furniture. The receipts and expenditures under this head for the year of 1880 were as follows:

THE CATALOGUE OF PRINTING FUND

THE CATALOGUE OR PRINTING FUND.

The foundation of this fund is a subscription of $932.50, raised in 1878 for the purpose of publishing 600 copies of a catalogue and 500 copies of the amended constitution and compiled reports, and the expense incurred thereby was $990.80, leaving a deficit of $58.30, upon which has been applied the amounts received from the sales of catalogues as follows: In 1878, $11; in 1879, $22.75; and in 1880, $14.25. On Dec. 31, 1880, the fund was overdrawn $6.30.

The sales of the catalogue, although commenced at the very reasonable price of one dollar apiece, and afterwards reduced to seventy-five cents, have not equalled the expectations entertained when the publication was undertaken. But, yet, it has been of advantage to the library in helping to make its contents better known, as well as in stopping the clamor of those who, before that, were always complaining of the want of a catalogue of which they have not yet found time to purchase a copy.

THE INCOME OF BOOK FUND.

The receipts and expenditures of this fund during the year were as follows:

RECEIPTS.

Interest on book fund$133	3 I	50

Liability of fund$43	7	78

And on December 31, 1880, as follows:

Overdraft, as per report of treasurer.....$47 50

It will be seen that during the year, by economy in the purchase of books and the help of $200 from the general fund, we have been able to discharge $390.28 of the indebtedness of this fund; but economy in this direction is not of itself desirable, and can only be practiced at the expense of the general usefulness of the library. To do so, as was said in my last report, "We must deny our readers the benefit of some pleasant or instructive book that we ought to and otherwise could furnish them. But the true remedy is to increase the book fund. To-day, it ought not to be less than $20,000, and we can easily make it so if we only will." And I am glad to add that since then it has been increased $1,000.

THE BOOK FUND.

So far, this fund is made up of the proceeds arising from the sale of perpetual memberships. It commenced in 1876 with the sale of forty-six memberships. In 1877 two more were disposed of and in 1878 three. In 1879 the fiftieth one was sold and the fund was raised to $13,000. During the past year three more have been disposed of and paid for—one to Mr. Ellis G. Hughes; one to Gov. D. P. Thompson; and one to Capt. George J. Ainsworth. A fourth one was actually sold during the year to Mr. S. G. Skidmore, but the transaction was not closed in time for the accounts of 1880, although it has since been paid for.

The fund therefore appears in the accounts and reports for the year as amounting to $13,750, but it really now amounts to $14,000.

So long as this fund can be kept up or rather ahead of the growth and prosperity of the place, the prosperity and usefulness of the library are reasonably assured. Experience has shown that the receipts from dues paid by subscribing members can be relied upon to meet the ordinary running expenses of the library—provided, its shelves and tables are regularly supplied with a fair share of good reading and information of the day; and this cannot be accomplished without a sufficient income from the book fund. As was said in my last report, "Let every member and friend of the Association resolve to aid this undertaking by obtaining a subscriber for a perpetual membership during the coming year. This stock though not upon the books of the brokers of Pine or Wall streets, is marked high in the catalogue of good works, and will pay dividends when the bonanzas are only remembered as a feverish dream."

The condition of this fund on December 31, 1879, was as follows:

Loaned on note and mortgage at 10 per cent. per annum	12,000	00
Balance due on subscribers' notes at 10 per cent. per annum	1,000	00

Total	$13,000	00
-------	----------	----

And on December 31, 1880, was as follows:

Loaned on note and mortgage at 10 per cent. per annum$1	3,400	00
Balance due on subscribers' notes at 10 per cent. per annum	350	00

Total	$13,750 00
-------	-------------

THE HOME FUND.

This fund has not been increased except by the interest derived from it, since the sum of $9,215 was subscribed to it in 1873. Additional subscriptions ought to be made to it every year, for the time will come, and that comparatively soon, when we must have a home of our own, which implies an outlay of at least $50,000. And in the meantime, as was said in the president's report for 1879, "it ought not to be forgotten that there is a sort of an implied understanding that, while Mr. Ladd furnishes the library with a home free of rent, the friends of the same would from time to time make substantial contributions to this fund."

On December 31, 1879, this fund amounted to $13,717.59, exclusive of interest earned but not collected, of which $962.11, represented interest earned during the year; and the condition of it on December 31, 1880, was as follows:

ROOMS.

The rooms of the Association have been much improved during the year by the purchase of new chairs—the removal of the railing from the east end of the book room and extending the shelving throughout the length of it—the removal of magazine table and newspapers therein to the corner room, and the fitting up of the west room as a newspaper as well as a chess room. The total cost of these additions, changes and improvements was $144.94.

In addition to this, two of Hayes' patent skylights have been put in the roof of the building in place of the old ones, which leaked badly—one over the book room and the other over the stairway leading from the street—at a cost of $183; for which we are indebted to the generosity of Mr. C. H. Lewis.

Through the agency of one of the Directors, Mr. E. S. Kearney, a handsome, life-size oil painting, by W. Coggswell, of Gen. Joseph Lane, the first United States Governor of Oregon, and for many years Delegate and Senator in Congress from the State, was purchased by subscription for $200 and presented to the Association. This is a good beginning of what is hoped will at some not distant day constitute "the library gallery" of Oregon's worthy pioneers and distinguished and useful citizens.

The subscriptions for the purpose are as follows: Henry Failing, H. W. Corbett, C. H. Lewis, William M. Ladd and E. S. Kearney, $30 each; R. H. Lamson, $15, and Philip C. Schuyler and Matthew P. Deady $5 each.

OFFICERS.

There has been no change in the Directors since the last annual meeting. Mr. Philip C. Schuyler continues to act as the Treasurer of the Association, and Mr. M. W. Fechheimer as Corresponding Secretary. Mr. Henry A. Oxer is still employed as Librarian and Recording Secretary. His assistant, Mr. Charles H. Woodward, after a period of very acceptable service, was obliged to resign on account of his health. Mr. Cecil Holcomb has been employed in his place with the approbation of the Library Committee.

Hoping that in this brief statement of the affairs of the Association you may find cause to approve of the management of the Directors during the past year, and for an increased interest in the welfare and prosperity of the library in the future, I remain very respectfully yours,

MATTHEW P. DEADY, President of the Library Association.
